MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS ACT, 1906-1953.

Midland Junction Municipality.

By-law No. 59—Long Service Leave.

L.G. 1039/52.

A By-law of the Midland Junction Municipality, made under Sections 147 and 180 of the Municipal Corporations Act, 1906-1953, and numbered 59 for the Regulating of Long Service Leave to be Granted to Employees of the Midland Junction Municipality.

IN pursuance of the powers conferred by the said Act, the Mayor and Councillors of the Midland Junction Municipality order as follows:—

1. In the interpretation of this by-law the following words shall have the meaning assigned to them hereunder:—

“Council” means Midland Junction Municipality.

“Employee” means a person employed as a servant of the Council in any capacity provided that person is in the regular and full time employment of the Council.

“Continuous Service” means continuous service as an employee.

2. Continuity of service shall be broken in any of the following cases:—

(a) When before or after the coming into operation of this by-law an employee absents himself from his employment without the consent of the Council for a period of two or more consecutive working days.

(b) When before or after the coming into operation of this by-law an employee is with the consent of the Council absent from his employment without pay for a period of four weeks or more.

(c) When before or after the coming into operation of this by-law an employee absents himself from his employment without the consent of the Council for an aggregate period of 10 working days. Where the continuous service of the employee has been broken by the happening of one of the events under (a) or (b) of this paragraph then the said period of 10 working days shall refer only to working days after the happening of one of the said events.

But the continuity of service shall not be broken in any of the following cases:—

(d) When before or after the coming into operation of this by-law an employee is in continuous full time service with the Armed Forces of the Commonwealth of Australia whether during a war or not. Provided that when the Armed Forces of the Commonwealth of Australia are not engaged in hostilities an employee who leaves his employment for the purposes of taking up permanent service with the regular Forces of the Commonwealth of Australia shall be deemed for the purposes of this by-law to have voluntarily retired from his employment because he has reached the age of 65 years.

(e) When an employee is taking long service leave under the provisions of this by-law.

3. At the expiration of each period of 10 years continuous service as from and including the 1st day of November, 1941, an employee shall be entitled to three calendar months long service leave. Provided that with respect to continuous service before the date of the coming-into operation of this by-law the employee shall in no case be credited with more than 10 years continuous service.

4. Where the employment of an employee is terminated—

(a) by his voluntary retirement because he has reached the age of 65 years or more.

(b) because he is incapable by reason of ill health from continuing in the employment of the Council and he voluntarily retires;

(c) because he is dismissed by the Council because of—

- (i) staff retrenchments, or
- (ii) any other cause or reason other than a breach by the employee of the terms of his employment or the neglect of his duties or his misconduct, and at the time of the termination of his employment the employee has not become entitled to long service leave because he has not completed his 10 years continuous service then the Council may in its discretion grant to the employee long service leave calculated at the rate of one and three-tenths weeks for each completed year of continuous service immediately preceding the termination of his employment and since he last became entitled to long service leave or since the last break in the continuity of his service as the case may be.

5. An employee shall be entitled to his full pay during the period of his long service leave. The rate of pay shall be equivalent to the permanent rate of pay, excluding conditional margins or higher duty payments, paid to the employee in the week immediately preceding the taking of his long service leave. The Council shall pay to the employee his salary or wages during his long service leave weekly, provided that it may, at its discretion upon the written application of the employee, pay to the employee in advance a sum representing the amount of his salary or wages for the period of his long service leave or the balance of such salary or wages as the case may be.

6. There shall be added to and taken with his long service leave all annual leave to which an employee is entitled or will become entitled before the expiration of his long service leave. But any public holidays which may accrue during the taking of his long service leave shall form part of such long service leave and shall not be added thereto.

7. In the event of the death of an employee who, immediately preceding his death had been an employee for a continuous period of at least two years, the Council may in its discretion pay to one or more of the widow, widower or next of kin of such employee an amount not greater than the amount of his weekly wage or salary at the time of his death divided by 10 and multiplied by 13 and multiplied by the number of completed years of continuous service immediately preceding his death. The amount of his weekly wage or salary shall be the permanent rate of pay excluding conditional margins and higher duty payments. The amount payable under this paragraph is a gratuitous payment in the absolute discretion of the Council and the Council may divide amongst the aforesaid persons in such proportions as it thinks fit the total amount which the Council resolves to pay.

8. Long service leave shall be considered as a special period of recuperation granted to an employee for the purpose of fitting the employee for a further term of employment by the Council and during long service leave an employee shall not undertake any form of employment for hire or reward unless by special written permission of the Council. In the event of a breach of this condition the Council shall be entitled to dismiss the employee from its service and if dismissed for this reason the employee shall not be entitled to any further payment of salary or wages in respect of long service leave and shall repay to the Council all salary and wages paid by the Council in advance in respect of long service leave after the date of dismissal. This sum shall be a debt due by the employee to the Council repayable on demand.

9. Long service leave shall be taken at the convenience of the Council but the Council will as far as possible meet with the wishes of the employee and endeavour to give him reasonable notice of the time for commencing his long service leave.
